

Data sharing checklists

These two checklists provide a handy step by step guide through the process of deciding whether to share personal data. One is for systematic data sharing, the other is for one off requests.

The checklists are designed to be used alongside the full code and highlight the relevant considerations to ensure that the sharing complies with the law and meets individuals' expectations.

Data sharing checklist – systematic data sharing

Scenario: You want to enter into an agreement to share personal data on an ongoing basis

Is the sharing justified?

Key points to consider:

- What is the sharing meant to achieve?
- Have you assessed the potential benefits and risks to individuals and/or society of sharing or not sharing?
- Is the sharing proportionate to the issue you are addressing?
- Could the objective be achieved without sharing personal data?

Do you have the power to share?

Key points to consider:

- The type of organisation you work for.
- Any relevant functions or powers of your organisation.
- The nature of the information you have been asked to share (for example was it given in confidence?).
- Any legal obligation to share information (for example a statutory requirement or a court order).

If you decide to share

It is good practice to have a data sharing agreement in place. As well as considering the key points above, your data sharing agreement should cover the following issues:

- What information needs to be shared.
- The organisations that will be involved.
- What you need to tell people about the data sharing and how you will communicate that information.
- Measures to ensure adequate security is in place to protect the data.
- What arrangements need to be in place to provide individuals with access to their personal data if they request it.
- Agreed common retention periods for the data.
- Processes to ensure secure deletion takes place.

Data sharing checklist – one off requests

Scenario: You are asked to share personal data relating to an individual in 'one off' circumstances

Is the sharing justified?

Key points to consider:

- Do you think you should share the information?
- Have you assessed the potential benefits and risks to individuals and/or society of sharing or not sharing?
- Do you have concerns that an individual is at risk of serious harm?
- Do you need to consider an exemption in the DPA to share?

Do you have the power to share?

Key points to consider:

- The type of organisation you work for.
- Any relevant functions or powers of your organisation.
- The nature of the information you have been asked to share (for example was it given in confidence?).
- Any legal obligation to share information (for example a statutory requirement or a court order).

If you decide to share

Key points to consider:

- What information do you need to share?
 - Only share what is necessary.
 - Distinguish fact from opinion.
- How should the information be shared?
 - Information must be shared securely.
 - Ensure you are giving information to the right person.
- Consider whether it is appropriate/safe to inform the individual that you have shared their information.

Record your decision

Record your data sharing decision and your reasoning – whether or not you shared the information.

If you share information you should record:

- What information was shared and for what purpose.
- Who it was shared with.
- When it was shared.
- Your justification for sharing.
- Whether the information was shared with or without consent.
